

Geographies of Justice and Social Transformation

Geographies of Justice and Social Transformation is devoted to books that engage the importance of space for questions of social and political change. This focus necessarily covers a broad range of subject matter, including international political economy, urban studies, gender, race, sexuality, and poverty and inequality. While the series is interdisciplinary, its primary emphasis is on critical human geography.

SERIES EDITORS

Nik Heynen is an associate professor of geography at the University of Georgia. He has coedited three books: Neoliberal Environments: False Promises and Unnatural Consequences; Globalization's Contradictions: Geographies of Discipline, Destruction & Transformation; and In the Nature of Cities: Urban Political Ecology and the Politics of Urban Metabolism. Heynen's current book project is a study of the politicization of anti-hunger programs, with a particular focus on the Black Panthers.

Deborah Cowen is an assistant professor of geography at the University of Toronto. She is coeditor of the journal Environment and Planning D: Society and Space, author of Military Workfare, and coeditor of the volume War, Citizenship, and Territory.

Melissa W. Wright is an associate professor of geography and women's studies at Pennsylvania State University. She is the author of Disposable Women and Other Myths of Global Capitalism and a coeditor of Geographies of Power: Placing Scale.

Silent Violence
Food, Famine, and Peasantry in Northern Nigeria
Michael J. Watts
Paper, $28.95 | 4445-4

"Silent Violence is truly the seminal work of political ecology—synthesizing political economy and environmental history—to which my own writing owes an enormous debt. A conceptual masterpiece, it also remains—tragically—an all-too-accurate account of Nigeria's torments."—Mike Davis, author of Late Victorian Holocausts: El Niño Famines and the Making of the Third World

Black, White, and Green
Farmers Markets, Race, and the Green Economy
Allison Hope Alkon
Paper, $24.95 | 4390-7
Ebook, $24.95 | 4475-1
Unjacketed, $69.95 | 4389-1

"Alkon's deeply contextualized ethnography of two Bay Area farmers markets traces the transformation of local food and food justice movements from anticapitalist roots to neoliberal green growth agendas. Black, White, and Green is a must-read for those seeking to untangle the complexity of the 'food movement' and for those who believe we can buy and sell our way out of the environmental crisis."—Kenneth A. Gould, City University of New York

Beyond Walls and Cages
Prisons, Borders, and Global Crisis
Edited by Jenna M. Loyd, Matt Mitchelson, and Andrew Burridge
Paper, $24.95 | 4412-6
Ebook, $24.95 | 4492-8
Unjacketed, $69.95 | 4411-9

"Dares to undertake a task of political emergency that is here, now, and deeply historical . . . The thinkers in this collection catalyze a series of debates, conversations, and imaginative possibilities that stretch and vitally distend the existing horizons and languages of abolitionist, human/immigrant rights, prison reform, and U.S. border activisms. A mind-boggling array of critical positions, all informed by on-the-ground political work, is present in these pages. No one will walk away from this book unchanged."—Dylan Rodriguez, author of Forced Passages: Imprisoned Radical Intellectuals and the U.S. Prison Regime

Fields and Streams
Stream Restoration, Neoliberalism, and the Future of Environmental Science
Rebecca Lave
Paper, $22.95 | 4392-1
Ebook, $22.95 | 4474-4
Unjacketed, $59.95 | 4391-4

"Fields and Streams is a brilliant and pathbreaking work. Lave's extensively researched and conceptually rich analysis weaves geography, environmental studies, and science studies into an analysis that is intellectually rigorous and practically relevant. It should be read not just by those interested in political ecology, ecological restoration, and water policy but by anyone interested in the complex relationships between environment, economics, science, and politics."—Jake Kosek, author of Understories: The Political Life of Forests in New Mexico
